

The washerman, dog & The donkey

Once in a village there lived a washer man with his donkey and a dog.

He was not feeding them well and made them work hard

Many days passed but the dog and the donkey were not fed

Everyday we have to work with empty stomach

That too very hard

Once a thief entered the washerman's house

This man is fast asleep, so I have a good chance!

Hey, there is a thief who is starring at our master.

A cartoon panel with a purple background. On the left, a grey dog with a blue collar is barking with its mouth wide open and eyes wide. A speech bubble above it contains the text. On the right, a white dog is shown in profile, looking towards the grey dog. The scene is set in a dark, possibly underground, environment with some structural elements visible.

Oh brother! you bark and wake up the boss!

How is he our master? He keeps us hungry. Let the thief steal. I won't bark Sometimes he had fed us. We should not be ungrateful. Therefore I shall wake him up.

I should do something to wake the master

Thus started braying

Ah! Who is this disturbing my sleep?

He started beating the donkey with a stick.

Oh, you stupid, I will teach you a proper lesson for this kind of misbehavior.

The End

MORAL :

Awaking the man is the duty of the dog and not the donkey.
