

DOES THE LION EVER HAVE BAD BREATH?

In a jungle lived a lion.

One day he killed a young deer. He ate the whole of it, but still remained unsatiated.

....so, the lion thought of a plan.

He went and sat leisurely beside a huge tree.
Meanwhile, a sheep was passing by...

O sheep,
please tell me honestly if I
have bad breath.

Saying so, the lion....

....opened his mouth.

Yes, O king, your mouth has
bad breath.

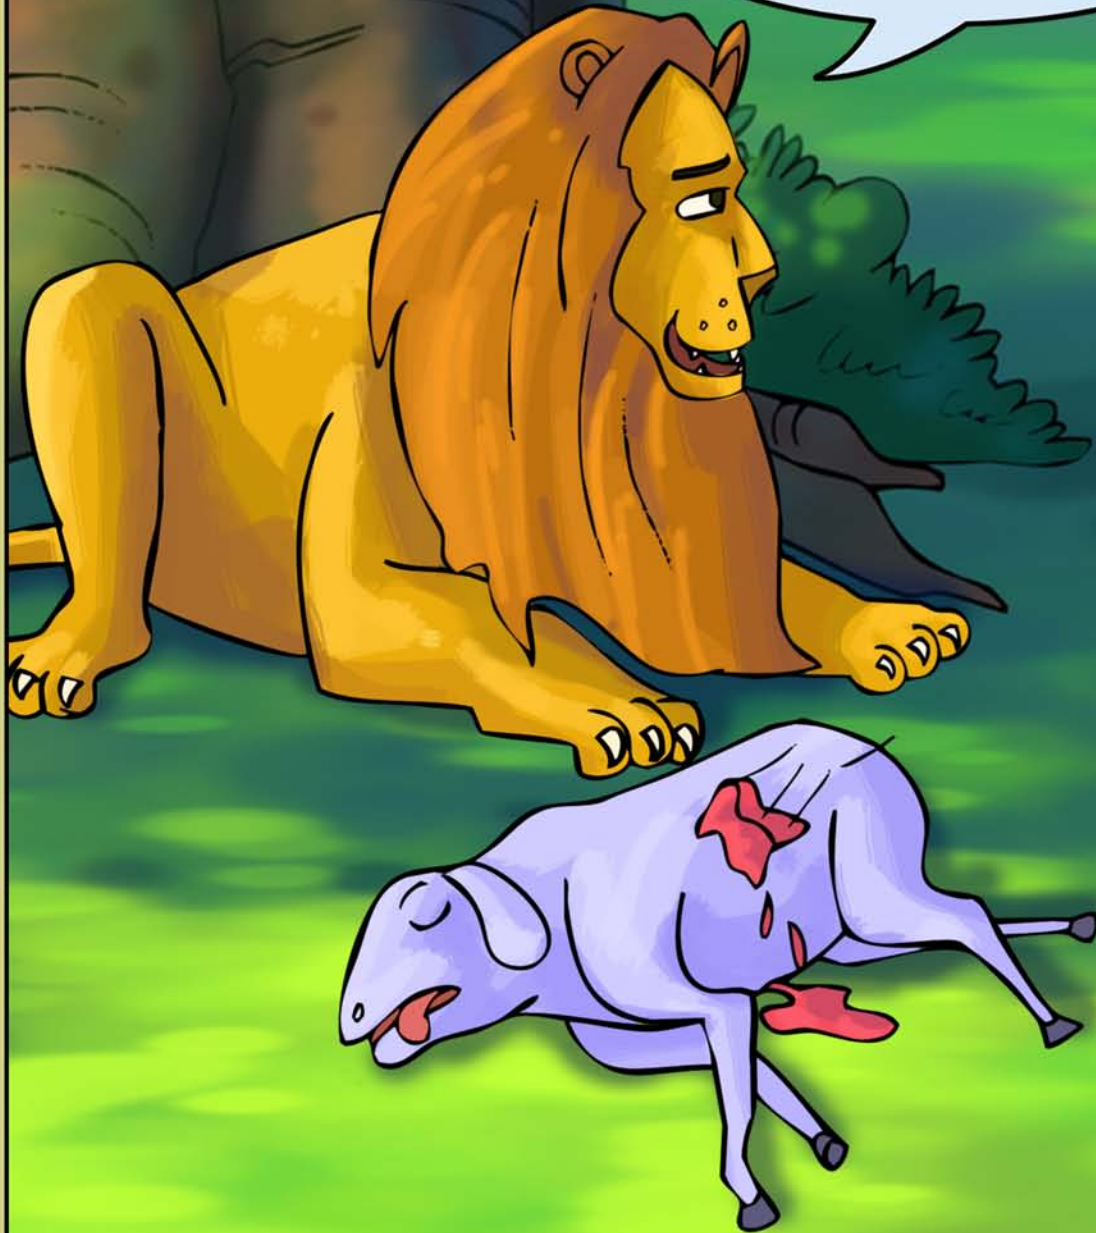

How dare you say
that to the king of the jungle?
You have no etiquettes.

Saying so, the lion slapped the sheep with his paws and the sheep lost her life.

After a while, a jackal was passing by. The lion asked him....

O jackal,
please tell me frankly if I
have bad breath.

Saying so, the lion opened his mouth.

If I tell him
he smells bad, this lion will tear me apart!

At that moment, the jackal saw the dead sheep. Seeing this, the jackal said....

O king, can your mouth ever have bad breath?
Your mouth does not stink of flesh even a bit.

The lion furiously said....

I just ate a young deer and didn't even rinse my mouth. How come i don't have bad breath, you liar! Lairs like you have no place in my kingdom.

Saying this, the lion slapped the jackal with his paws and sent him to the abode of Yamaraj.

After a while, a fox was passing by. The lion called him and asked....

O fox,
tell me the truth.
Does my mouth have
bad breath?

The fox saw that the sheep and the jackal were lying dead near the lion.

Fox went near the lion and smelled his mouth. Then he kept his hand on his head and raising the nose he said....

Hearing this, the lion was bewildered. He did not know what to do. Meantime, the fox bowed down and quickly walked off.
