Once, a doctor visited a house to diagnose two patients, a rich housewife and her maidservant.

The rich housewife.

Her maidservant.

The doctor examined both of them.

The doctor said to the maidservant...

Oh! Your temperature is 105, so there is something to worry about...

You need to take some medicines.

Doctor to landlady...

Your temperature is only 99.

99°

So you have nothing to worry about.

Hearing this the housewife angrily said...

What! I have only 99 and my maidservant has 105.

She thought to herself...

This doctor is useless. I am the landlady. According to that, I should have 110 and she should have 98!

MORAL:

The modern civilization is inclined to increase the degree of it's fever. In the human body, death occurs as soon as the temperature reaches 107.

With the help of nuclear weapons, the modern civilization will come to the point of 107 and everything will soon be over.

But, devotees want to decrease the fever by decreasing the demands of the body. This is the ideal way of living life.
