

The Honest Thieves

After stealing some property...

Take out
all the stuff.

Yes master!

And please call everyone.

A group of thieves gathered in the room.

Let us divide this booty honestly and religiously.

MORAL:

What do thieves have to do with honesty? Nothing! Similarly, what does science have to do with the Absolute Truth? Science is not equipped to prove the Absolute Truth. It's too small and incomplete. It can't even comprehend material worlds properly, how will it reach the Absolute Truth. So science has no claim over Truth. Can ocean fit in a tumbler? No! So, how can science with man-made instruments and theories prove what is beyond the matter?
